

Conspiring Prayer

1. Which 3 words would you use to describe your own prayer life?

What are some of the ways in which you have struggled with prayer over the years?

If someone came to you with the struggles you've mentioned, what advice would you give them?

2. To what extent do you agree with this interpretation of the parable?

What place should persistence have in our prayer lives?

3. Why do you think we're in the habit of asking God to treat people in loving ways?

To what extent do you think we need to ask God to heal people?

Do you agree that gratitude is the best place to start our prayers, or might there be a better alternative?

4. How honest do you feel you can be with God in your prayers?

What areas of life do you find it hardest to be open with God about?

5. Do our prayers for others always need to conclude with some kind of 'response' from us?

In your experience, what's the most effective way in helping other people to be open to receiving God's love in their lives?
